A Word to the Wise!

Some five years ago, one of the Firm

OF

WATSON & RINEHART,

AFTER looking over the field and contemplating the future of Kansas and the GREAT WEST, concluded to make the venture to initiate the

DRY GOODS

JOBGING TRADE

IN LEAVENWORTH. WE WERE ALONE in the trade for nearly two years, when we met with friendly and honorable competition, which has increased until some eight or ten houses are doing each a good business.—
The success and encouragement we have met with, has enabled and induced us to largely increase our stock, so that we are this Spring well prepared to meet the wants of all who desire

Fancy and Staple

Dry Goods,

Boots and Shoes,

Straw Goods,

Hats and Caps,

CARPETS, &c.

We are sometimes amused to read the advertisements of some of our neighbors, who seem to think that large and marvelous stories are important to their success: We would simply remind our friends that there is an extensive "Gas Factory" in town in active operation.

To those who have so long given us their patronage and confidence, we have only to say that our business will hereafter be conducted under the same liberal policy practiced heretofore by our house, and we invite all in want of merchandise in our line to call and examine our Stock at our Ware Rooms.
